IMMENSE BLAZE AT NEW ORLEANS.

Nearly the Entire Front Along River Destroyed.

LOSS ABOUT FIVE MILLION DOLLARS.

Vast Freight Terminals of Central Railway Burn.

DOZENS OF WHARVES AND ELEVATORS GO.

Hundreds of Cars Loaded With Much Freight and Thousands of Bales of Cotton Consumed at the Crescent City.

New Orleans, Feb. 27.—Fire involving $5,000,000 loss in physical property and that strikes a serious temporary blow to the immense export trade of New Orleans, swept the river front Sunday night and wiped out the vast freight terminals of the Illinois Central known as the Stuyvesant docks. Nearly half a dozen squares of modern wharves and freight sheds, two magnificent freight elevators, hundreds of loaded cars and vast quantities of freight, together with a large number of small residences.

The Stuyvesant docks extend from Louisiana avenue almost to Napoleon avenue, a distance of twelve squares. The wharves between those points were covered with miles of trackage, and steel and iron sheds ran the whole distance. The two grain elevators were of the most modern construction, the upper one having a capacity of 1,000,000 bushels. Thousands of bales of cotton, several hundred thousand packages of sugar, great quantities of cotton seed oil and oil cake, lumber and every conceivable variety of freight filled the warehouses and sheds. Practically all the export business handled by the Illinois Central was put aboard ships at the docks. The docks have been under construction for ten years elaborate extensions and immense investments having been made after the constitutional convention of 1898 made it possible for the road to invest permanently at this point.

The fire was discovered shortly after 7 o'clock. It was said to have resulted from a journal that had not been sufficiently oiled. The whole plant was equipped with gigantic water tanks and fire extinguishing apparatus, but the blaze, small at first, almost instantly got beyond control, communicated through the conveyors to the lower elevator and some of the sheds. The response of the fire department was prompt, but owing to the fact that the terminals were inaccessible owing to fences and tracks, the engines found difficulty in reaching the flames. In half an hour the fire covered two squares and the lower elevator was practically consumed.

At midnight more than nine squares of the terminals had been completely destroyed, and it seemed unlikely that the fire would be checked until it reached Napoleon avenue, which is also a very broad street. During the fire a heavy wind blew and the blaze was of indescribable fury, carrying brands to a great distance, moving back the crowds of sightseers. Immense pieces of corrugated iron, torn from the sides of the upper elevator, were carried through the air as if they were feathers, and dropping in every direction, constantly endangered the lives of fire men and spectators.

The weather was bright and warm and probably 50,000 people visited the scene during the progress of the fire. Aside from the tremendous loss involved in the destruction of property, the fire is a calamity to New Orleans in the temporary abatement of the immense port business of the Illinois Central, particularly in the matter of grain shipments.

As soon as it became known that the scene of the fire was the Stuyvesant docks, harbor tugs hastened to the wharves and vessels that were moored there were pulled out into the river.

Switch engines were rushed to the wharves and hundreds of cars loaded with freight were drawn to points above the upper end of the terminals before the fire behind them. Many hundreds more, however, were consumed.

The wind was blowing down the river when the blaze began and the fire spread with greater speed in that direction. By 9 o'clock the lower elevator and sheds and wharves from Avenida street to Louisiana avenue, a distance of six squares, had fallen in.

Fortunately Louisiana avenue is a very broad thoroughfare, and the further spread of the fire to the residence section was checked. Between those points the flames swept to complete destruction many cottages of the poorer classes, the occupants in a great many instances losing all they possessed.

The company getting up the proposed contest for a big Library to be given away on a voting plan FREE, takes this method of informing the friends of the enterprise in the different organizations in town, that this paper will show each week just how your favorite organization stands. There is no element of chance about it. Every dollar you spend for goods you get ten votes. The institution securing this collection of books will be indeed fortunate. Votes are free. TO AT ONCE REBUILD.

Illinois Central Will Promptly Reconstruct Terminals.

SHIPS TOWED AWAY.

Tugs Went to the Assistance of the Vessels, and of the Ten In Port All Except Two Escaped Without Damage.

New Orleans, Feb. 27.—With the fire that destroyed its immense export terminals still burning Monday, though beyond power to do further damage, the Illinois Central railroad announced that as soon as the ruins cooled forces would be put to work to clear away the debris and the Stuyvesant docks and elevators would be promptly rebuilt on a more elaborate and substantial scale than before. Meantime officials of the road were engaged in the formulation of plans that would enable them to handle the traffic now on its way here from the west and avoid any material diversion of freight from this city.

Conservative estimates figure the immediate loss by the fire at $5,000,000, divided as follows: Two elevators, warehouses, sheds, $2,500,000; 23,000 bales of cotton $320,000; 700,000 bushels of grain, $385,000; 15,000 barrels of sugar, $300,000; cotton seed cake, 130 carloads, $97,500; lumber, $16,625; cement, $56,250; meal, 20 cars, $10,000; sundries, $150,000; 500 freight cars, $375,000; damage to ships, $50,000; city fire department, two engines and six horses, $15,000; private property and other damage, $216,000.

The railroad company carried its own insurance and contents of various elevators and sheds were insured in local and foreign agencies. The wharves covered 4750 feet over a distance of ten blocks. There is a wharfage of 35,000 feet, the remainder at the upper end of the terminals being saved through the fact that the wind blew strongly in the opposite direction. The destroyed wharf cost $500,000. Elevator D, leased to Harris, Scotton & Co., Chicago, cost $300,000 when built, and Elevator E, which was operated by the Illinois Central railroad, cost $400,000.

Apparently no lives were lost in the fire, though there were many narrow escapes of those who engaged in fighting the flames, owing to their rapid spread, and lives were constantly endangered by debris of all kinds that whirled through the air. The escape of two fire engines were cut off and their crews had to run for their lives. Driver Charles Richardson of No. 6 was painfully hurt.

Insurance will approximate $4,000,000.

The fire started in one of the conveyors to elevator D. It spread with remarkable rapidity, sparks dropping into oil barrels on the wharf and extending the flames in every direction.

Ten ships were lying at the docks when the fire started and all escaped except two. The Indian of the Leyland line had her rails, cabin house, masts, etc., wiped clean off, and the Cyclo was burned about the prow and sides. All tugs in the harbor steamed up and hurried to the scene when the fire started and by heroic efforts succeeded in pulling the steamers in the river out of reach of the flames.

Superintendent O. M. Dunne directed the forces of the railroad company for several hours, and when the fire was under control went to the office of the company, where he spent the night in wire communication with officials east and west and in setting lines for clearing the wreckage away. He said that it was probable the piers, elevators and sheds would be restored within a year, and they would be more substantial than those destroyed.

Mr. Dunne said in his opinion the fire originated from spontaneous combustion. The Texas and Pacific railway has an immense elevator at Westwego and there is also an elevator at the Chalmette property of the Frisco. General Manager Preston of the latter road immediately tendered the use of the Chalmette property to the Illinois Central and it is probable that traffic will be handled at that point.

In addition to the railroad property, the fire destroyed the Crescent Ice company's plant, many small stores and a large number of small residences.

Many pathetic scenes were witnessed as the poor occupants of them struggled to save their small belongings at the risk of their lives.

The fire will temporarily throw out of work a large number of employees, but this loss will be compensated for by the very much larger number that will be employed in the course of a few days clearing away the debris and reconstruction of terminals at the highest attainable speed.

ALLEN ACADEMY IMPROVEMENTS.

The Principals hope to Accommodate
One Hundred and Fifty
Next Year.

The Allen Academy, which has been phenomenally successful ever since it was established in Bryan, is experiencing one of its most notably progressive sessions this year. The school has been full all the year, and the truth has become more and more evident that additional accommodations will be absolutely necessary before another term, or the growth of the institution will be seriously retarded.

To meet these requirements the principals have already begun some improvements and others are now contemplated, with plans in preparation. The work going on is the building of a large dining room addition to the home of Prof. J. H. Allen, with two commodious rooms above for students. The work contemplated embraces an addition of two large teaching rooms to the academy building proper, with students' rooms above, and a new two story residence for Prof. R. O. Allen on the site of his present home, which is to be moved back and used for a dormitory. While these improvements have not yet been definitely determined upon, there is every reason to believe they will be made. This will enable the Academy to take care of 150 boys, and with this end in view the principals are in correspondence with the authorities of the state university at Austin with a view to increasing the Academy faculty.

The growth of this school is a matter of pride to the people of Bryan, and the announcement of these plans for development will be welcome news.

names of his informants if necessary at the proper time, that rooms are rented and run in Bryan as gambling rooms, and that there are occasional games at other places. He also charged that there are violations of the Sunday law by some of the saloons, and enlarged upon this evil and that of whiskey drinking. He said that when the question was asked why the officers do not enforce the law, echo answers "why."

As a remedy for these conditions he mentioned first and foremost the cleansing blood of Jesus Christ; next the living of upright, fearless Christians lives by professing Christians before the world and the lending of the use of their names and influence in the enforcement of the law; third the enforcement of the penalties of the law by the officers whose sworn duty it is to do so, and unless they do it the people are taxed for nothing; and fourth, in the event of failure of men to do their official duty, the election of men who will do it. As a remedy for present conditions Dr. Betts thought Bryan should have a law and order league. He commended the efforts to build up Bryan commercially, and mentioned particularly the making of a free bridge and ferry on the Brazos river, but said the greatest need of Bryan to-day is civic righteousness.

Under the next head the speaker declared that gambling has insinuated itself into every line of business, the merchants giving tickets with goods, the newspapers conducting contests, the ladies playing games for prizes, the boys playing marbles for "keeps" on the streets, and even the churches, he blushed to say, sometimes raising money by questionable methods. Dealing in cotton futures was also condemned. As a conclusion to this part of the subject the minister said that he had made investigations and was able to assert on good authority, and give the

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Among the preliminary announcements, before preaching at the Baptist church last Sunday night, Dr. Butler stated that according to the program of the new church building committee, the next Sunday service will be held in the new church. Invitation was extended to other denominations and the public to join in the first services in the new edifice. Dr. Dement of Waco will preach next Sunday, the initial sermon of a series that will follow during the week. Prominent divines from other cities will assist in the meeting.

The subject of the sermon Sunday night was "Some of the Prevalent Evils of Bryan, and How to Correct Them." The text was: "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." —Prov. xiv, 34.

The speaker said that the language of the text applies with equal force to individuals and to communities as well as to nations. Generalization upon the effects of righteousness and of sin upon individuals, upon nations and upon communities constituted one division of the sermon, and another division was devoted to consideration of the subject in its local bearings, in this community. Dr. Butler said that for some reason that he did not undertake to account for, this community has a bad reputation abroad. He related incidents to show that this is true. He spoke of his own love for the people of Bryan, and showed how it was that only his love for this people could prompt the course he pursued in the admonitions he gave. He stated that certain conditions prevail at Bryan which are, in the language of the text, a reproach to this community. He referred especially to drunkenness, violation of the Sunday law by saloons, and the running of gambling houses. The sermon was full of the deepest feeling and earnestness, and was a forcible, dignified and touching appeal to the intelligence and the conscience of the community.

The only thing that marred the sermon was the relation of an extremely uncanny story of gambling in church in the presence of a corpse, and the only thing that might be urged against this was that it was out of harmony with the rest of the sermon and unnecessary to the production of any effect the speaker had in view.

This writer understands the Methodist minister related the same story.

The preacher advocated as a measure useful in this community at the present time, the organization of a law and order league. The purposes suggested for the league were the usual offices assigned to such organizations. One of the purposes named was the assistance of the officers of the city and county in the enforcement of the law.

The sermon was timely, moderate and forceful, and is calculated to do good.

SIX NICE CASH PRIZES.

Get Tomorrow's Eagle and Read the Proposition.

The Eagle wants to know how much you know about the advantages offered by Bryan's business men. There are a whole lot of reasons why people should do all their business in Bryan. They are brought out very strongly in some descriptions of Bryan firms to be printed in tomorrow's Eagle, and six cash prizes, one of $5.00, one of $2.50, one of $1.50, and three of $1.00 each will be given for solutions of the problems submitted. Watch for it. It is the most interesting, beneficial and educational contest that has yet been offered in Bryan.

SHOOT AND RACES WEDNESDAY.

Preparations are about completed for the shoot and races at the fair grounds Wednesday, and a fine day's sport is anticipated. A clay pigeon shoot takes place in the morning to be participated in by crack shots from Bryan and other points.

In the afternoon the race program given below comes off, and the suggestion has been made that the business houses close up for the afternoon and give every one a chance to attend. A part of the admission fee, 25 cents, goes to the fair association.

First race—Saddle horses, entered by Dr. R. H. Harrison, Dr. P. M. Raynor, Dr. W. H. Oliver, Joe Batt and Geo. Smith, purse $50.00. Each gentleman rides his own horse.

Second race—Quarter mile dash, ponies, open to the public. Entry fee $1.00, purse $7.50. Second money $2.50.

Third race—Three hundred and fifty yard dash, ponies, open to the public. Entry fee $1.00, purse $7.50. Second money $2.50.

JNO. M. CALDWELL'S NEW QUARTERS.

Mr. Jno. M. Caldwell, the enterprising jeweler, is now comfortably situated in his new quarters, the building formerly occupied by Emmel's drug store, and next door south of his old stand. He is doing repair work right along with his usual skill and promptness, and also has his stock arranged so as to accommodate the trade without delay or inconvenience to customers.

With the entire building at his disposal he will be able to enlarge his stock and otherwise provide for his growing business. Keep in mind that he sells everything in the jewelry line and guarantees satisfaction.

WHY?

The reason One Minute Cough Cure relieves a cough in one minute, is because it acts first on the mucous membrane right where the cough troubles—in the throat or deep-seated on the lungs, destroying the microbes or cough germs and clearing the phlegm.
One Minute Cough Cure not only destroys the cough germs and clears out the mucous membranes which protect the throat and lungs. Opens the air passages and promotes unobstructed breathing.
Causes the blood to receive its natural supply of oxygen, thus exhilarating the pulmonary organs with such strength and vigor that the lungs and bronchial tubes become bulwarks against the inception of disease.
Asthma, Bronchitis, La Grippe, Cold on the Lungs and all Pulmonary Complaints that are curable are quickly cured by the use of

LAND OF FLOWERS AND SUNSHINE

California Woman's Letter of Special Interest to People in Bryan.

At this season of the year a letter from the land of flowers and sunshine is of special interest to our readers. The following letter from the Holden Drug Co., of Stockton, Cal., one of the largest drug houses on the Pacific coast, is of special interest. They write: "Enclosed is a letter from one of the most prominent residents of this city. She will not allow her name to be published in the newspapers, but we can furnish it to anyone writing us."

The letter is as follows:

"For some four years my daughter has had headaches, which seriously interfered with her school work. Until recently we attributed the trouble to eye strain, but happening to notice your advertisement of Hyomei, we were satisfied that her trouble came from catarrh.

We purchased a dollar outfit, and within twenty-four hours great relief was experienced, and the loosening of mucous matter and the reduction of throat inflammation began. Sixty days use of Hyomei made nearly a complete recovery, which we consider very satisfactory after nearly four years of expense and fruitless treatment by other methods, and that we feel grateful is to put it mild." Mrs.

This letter shows that many cases of sickness and debility are simply caused by catarrh and that they can be cured by Hyomei. This is Nature's own method of curing catarrh, medicating the air you breathe.

A complete outfit, including the inhaler, costs but $1, and extra bottles are only 50 cents. Ask E. J. Jenkins to show you the strong guarantee under which he sells this remarkable remedy.

MOORE ON TRIAL.

District Attorney Pleads Not Guilty to Accepting a Bribe.

Austin, Feb. 27.—The case of Warren W. Moore, charged with accepting a bribe, came up under the new indictment in the Fifty-third district court Saturday. The charge is that Warren W. Moore accepted a bribe of $12,500 in connection with the anti-trust suit against the Kirby Lumber company and others, which suit he filed in January, 1902, and which was dismissed by a judgment of the court in the following March.

At 5 o'clock the jury was sworn in and County Attorney Brady read the indictment. The first count charges W. W. Moore with having accepted a bribe of $12,500 from John H. Kirby.

The second charges the same offense substantially, except that it presents that the bribe had been accepted from Frank D. Glover. Mr. Glover is a San Marcus banker. Upon the conclusion of the reading of the indictment Mr. Moore arose, faced the jury and said: "Gentlemen: I plead 'not guilty' to the indictment."

State has about fifty witnesses and defendant 100. After stringent warnings to witnesses and jurors Judge Calhoun adjourned court until Monday morning.

WORTHAM TESTIFIES.

Standing Room at a Premium in the Fifty-Third District Court.

Austin, Feb. 27.—Standing room was at a premium Monday morning when the Fifty-third district court met and the taking of testimony in the case of Warren W. Moore, district attorney, charged with bribery, was taken up. The entire morning session was taken up with the testimony of Colonel W. B. Wortham, one of the principal witnesses for the state. Colonel Wortham testified in substance that when the anti-trust cases were brought against the Kirby Lumber company Attorney Joe Eagle of Houston telephoned him (Wortham) to know if something would not be done whereby the suits could be settled or dismissed out of court—at best to compromise them. Wortham testified that he would not do it himself, but he knew a man who could and that was Frank Glover. Soon after this conversation Wortham said he went to Houston with Glover and presented him to Eagle. The first proposition made was $25,000, but Eagle considered this excessive and declined.

Continuing, Wortham said that several visits were made to Houston by Glover. On the first trip witness accompanied Glover, but on the second trip A. S. Vandervoort, then cashier of the First National bank, accompanied Glover. Witness said that when he went to Houston regarding a compromise of the case he called on Kirby and the latter referred him to Eagle, his attorney. He had seen Eagle and the latter advised him to go back to Austin and procure the dismissal of the cases; that Eagle had not talked about the cost of the dismissal, but urged that prompt and favorable action be taken in the matter, as it was imperative that the cases should be dismissed at once. Wortham said that Kirby had never talked to him about the cases; that on all occasions he referred the witness to Eagle, but Kirby had told him that it was absolutely necessary that the cases should be dismissed.

Eagle had also declared that it was absolutely necessary to secure a dismissal of the cases, as the Kirby Lumber company had over $3,000,000 of bonds for sale in the east and nothing could be done until a settlement of the cases was affected. Witness returned to Austin for consulting with Eagle and the matter was left in the hands of Glover. He stated to witness that the cases could be settled for $12,500. Witness then went to Dallas and received a phone message from Eagle at Houston telling him to return to Austin at once, as things had gone wrong. Wortham came back to Austin and met Glover next day. Glover told him the cases could be settled for $12,500, but that the money must be paid at once. Witness said he went to the front of the bank and secured the money from Cashier Vandervoort and he went back in the rear of the bank, threw it on a table, where Glover got it and put it in his side pocket. This occurred a few days before the cases were stricken off the docket.
